

Leadership Development Institute (LDI)

Awe Oluwatosin Doyinsola

Awe Oluwatosin Doyinsola studied B.Sc Zoology at the University of Ilorin and proceeded in the same University for a Master's degree and majored in Parasitology (with precise interests on the epidemiology of Parasitic Neglected Tropical Diseases) he also recently graduated from UNICAF University, Lilongwe, Malawi where he earned his Masters of Business Administration. Mr Awe Oluwatosin has spent the last four years contributing to community development, leadership, youth empowerment and education awareness as an avid supporter of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

He was the project manager of the SDGs in his youth service at Minna West Axis, Niger State where he led the group on series of sensitization and project activities of the SDGs. He has worked as a Kwara State Team Lead and National Volunteer for Voluntary Service Overseas (VSO Nigeria) working on the in area of education and policies surrounding inclusion among primary & secondary school children. As the team lead for Kwara state, he was tasked with the responsibility of the Citizen Led Monitoring (CLM) (a VSO Nigeria Programme), a Social Accountability project where duty bearers and service providers are held to account in the area of Education.

He is also a 2019 Kectil Colleague till present of The Kectil Program Initiative of the Malmar Knowles Family Foundation, Atlanta Georgia where he earned a 2019 Certificate of Excellent Performance. A platform for over 600 young leaders from over 63 countries. He is currently a Kwara State volunteer with Brain Builders International (BBI) under the leadership of Mr Olasupo Abideen where they are working on localizing the SDGs. Lastly, he is an active member of the Young African Leadership Initiative (YALI Kwara Hub) and was recently offered you a 5 weeks place in the training for online cohort 15 of the YALI RLC West Africa (Accra-Ghana) program specifically on Civic Engagement. Mr Awe loves football, research and likes reading current news and books.